TUC leaders are expected today to welcome the govern-ment proposals for an inde-pendent Conciliation and Arbi-tration Service to handle indus-

Thirteen people were errested yesterday after fight-ing broke out between Israeli and Palestinian supporters near Speakers' Corner, in Hyde Park, London. hart.

Violence began after more than a thousand supporters of the Palestinian Arab cause, who had been bolding a meeting, were leaving the park to march to the Israel Embassy. The demonstration was to mark the twenty-sixth anniversary of the state of Israel.

Zionist supporters had been holding a separate meeting in the park, and as the head of the Arab procession passed near by Arab procession passed near by they shouted insults at the Arabs. One youth velled: "Arab scum"; one of the marchers replied, and then about a dozen Israeli supportors swarmed over railings into the march, attacking Arabs and Muslims

THE S.B.A? and what the deuce may that be?

What is the S.B.A?

The Smaller Businesses Association is the only body that speaks exclusively for the private entrepreneur. The members are all people who are running, and in many cases have started and built up, private businesses. The Association speaks for 20,000 private businesses, but its voice would be more effective if it spoke for more of the 820,000 private businesses which employ nearly 10 million of the working population, and produce 25% of the GNP.

What are its aims?

The SBA embodies the faith of its members in the virtues of private business and their importance to the economy of Britain. It is confident that private businesses are predominantly the source of new ideas and innovation : are flexible and competitive : produce economically many specialised products in relatively small quantities : suffer less than larger businesses from industrial disputes, absenteeism and staff turnover : provide personal fulfilment and opportunity for initiative : in general are more efficient than larger businesses : and reduce concentration of economic and political power.

The SBA is not political, let alone Poujadiste. It believes, however, in the need to educate politicians, who promise voters the earth and expect businessmen

- (2) The taxation of notional capital gains where no actual gain has been realised.
- (3) The disclosure of accounts under the same conditions as for public companies.
- (4) The estate duty provisions which can compel the small company to be sold.
- (5) The wealth tax and gifts tax which the proprietors of smaller businesses do not have the cash to pay, and which may result in the sale of these firms (the basis of valuation of the shares is a vital matter).

The SBA is fighting for :--

- The appointment of a senior minister with sole responsibility for privately owned businesses, with the full-time task of understanding and keeping the Cabinet informed of their problems.
- (2) The setting-up of a scheme of governmental guarantees (similar to Export Credit Guarantees) for bank loans to smaller businesses.
- (3) The recognition by Governments and the community of the vital importance of the role played by independent private enterprise.

Why should I join?

to deliver it, not only without recognition but under the handicap and disincentive of an increasingly heavy burden of taxation, corporate and private.

What has it achieved?

The SBA under the last Government was in close contact with the thirty members of the parliamentary backbench committee on small businesses : it gave evidence to the Bolton Committee : it is consulted by the Department of Trade and Industry. Its representations to this department and to the Chancellor have been instrumental in abolishing the tax restriction for directors' remuneration which applied only to private companies : mitigating short-fall provisions : eliminating Capital Gains at death : doubling tax relief on retirement annuity policies : reducing SET : increasing the limit for earned income relief : extending the time-limit for roll-over provisions.

For what is it still striving?

The SBA is fighting against :---

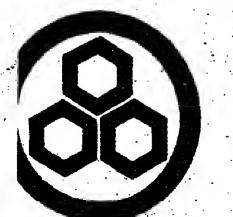

- (1) The increased burden of Corporation Tax on private companies which will limit their expansion (though it claims some credit for the lower
  - rate of Corporation Tax applied to some smaller businesses).

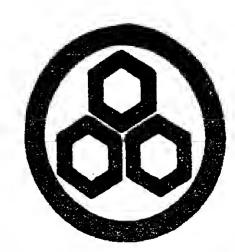

- businesses, and in France alone one million small businesses belong to the Confédération Générale des Petites et Moyennes Entreprises);
- (2) If you have faith in the virtues of private businesses;
- (3) If you are convinced of the vital importance to the British economy of the enterprise, courage and hard work of the individual entrepreneur;
- (4) If you believe that the present burden of taxation on the private businessman is unfair and unwise;
- (5) If you wish to share the hard-headed experience of other private businessmen;

show this page to your secretary and ask her to write to Miss Shirley Pickett, Secretary of the Association, at Europe House, World Trade Centre, London E1 9AA. The subscription is a flat rate of £20.

This notice has been inserted in the national interest on behalf of the SBA by a family-owned and directed group which, after a hundred years of steady expansion, now believes its independence and integrity to be in jeopardy.

Minister wants shake-up at Arts Council to make it more representative

"The nuly thing I really miss "The nnly thing I really miss is being able to say out loud exactly what I think about everything. I find the inb com-pletely absorbing and it is the only one in the Government I aim to do." Mr Hugh Jeokins, at 65, when many men are at least consider many men are at least consider-ing retirement, is energetically and enthusiastically tackling his and entricialization of the second state of th of his office. Tha pressures are many and varied, theatre meo calling for VAT zero-rating, backed up by the Arts Council, Tory MPs manoeuvring on Public Lending Right, film people seeking belp for their sick industry.

They may believe the minister can open the Pandora's box en-closed in a glass case in the froot hall of his ministry and release all kinds of goodies. But the fioancial reins are not in his hands. Take VAT. While his apposi-tion bas always been made clear, now as minister be can only hope the strongest possible case, the best possible evidence, will be presented; that people in the theatre will stop shouting and produce facts. The Arts Council is presenting a case for the refund to itself of those sums lost to the sup-ported theatre because of VAT.

Tha council, be feels, needs a shake-up. It does a good jnb, running the kind of system Europeans particularly admire, hut it could be more widely representative and Mr Jenkins has asked that it should look at the idea of introducing some the idea of introducing some degree of democracy into its governing bodies and commit-

"Not that I think the Arts Council is elitist, as is some-times suggested, but it must be seen not to be elitist and to bave among its mambers many who can be regarded as representative of the people who receive support—the clients". He follows the train of thought tn another area. "I thought th another area. "I winder whether this might not be extended so that we could have some kind of body analagous to the Arts Council for museums; perhaps the advisory body on museums might assume, if the other museums were agreeable, some coordinating function."

He finds agreeable the pattern by which ministers dn not intervene directly in the affairs of institutions, while keeping overail responsibility. In the film industry be has been given a co-ordinating role. "I am anxioua to see to what extent it is possible in fulfilling this role to bring together the industry and the art of the film in much the same way; when I was chairman of the Theatres Advisory Council, I was able to bring together the commercial and the publicly supported theatre.

"I strongly take the view that entertainment is in that sense a mixed economy and will remain so, and it is important that those in it for the money and those in it for the art form should work together."

Of the press, be feels that should the situation arise in future that it was no longer pos-sible to maintain a free and varied press, than a method of financial support from central government could be found.

He agreed with me that the temptation to editorial control would be great, but in a situa-tion where the choice fell be-tween a small, uncontrolled private minority or an element of carefully restrained public sup port, the latter was preferable to a "Lord Thomson situa-tion", with nne man control ling several papers.

This summer Mr Jenkins will go, he bopes, to the country, not to the bustings but to the repertory theatres and the arts centres. The job, he says, is important and demanding, and requires much visiting to see what goes on.

Perhaps he will go far afield, to Ayrsbire, and discover some thing of the variety which one delegate described to a theatre conference at Croydon last week. "We have had", be said. "Chinese mostry in Scot week. "We have had", be said, "Chinese poetry in Scot-land and that was a success: we promoted repertory on bingo night and an American pianist at barvest time in e farming community, and - it worked.

You can see our unique advantage by glancing at this TWA route map.

From Europe, we can fly you to the major international gateways of New York; Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington and Los Angeles.

Then, from those gateways, we can fly you to any of TWA's 35 major US cities. No other airline offers this time-saving ### advantage.

They either only fly you across the Atlantic, or they only fly you inside America. Of course, to try to get around this major disadvantage, some airlines publicise a link-up with an internal US airline. What they don't publicise so much is the time and effort it takes you to make the link.

Hardly surfising, considering that experiences like inter-terminal shuttle buses are not pime publicity material.

With TWA'as you might expect, things are much more convenient.

At New York's Kennedy Airport, you can change from a TWA International flight to a TWA US Donestic flight just by walking to another gate inside TWA's own terminal.

And at all lur other major gateways. TWA's Domestc flights are positioned right next door to International arrivals.

These advantages would tell even without TWA sother superior features.

With them, TWA is unbeatable. We have many Ambassador Express flights for businessmen, with carry-on luggage compartments to save time.

We have the 1011 TriStar, the world's most advanced plane. Above all, we have comfort and convenience.

Ask your travel agent. He'll confirm TWA's unique advantage.

It was a characteristic John Playar match, much enjoyed by a large crowd on a sumny day. especially as Swetman, not the most probable man to do so, hit a superb winning boundary for Gloncester-shire, who had eight wickets down, "off what would have been the last "ball but one. Derbyshire scored 161 in their 40 overs, which did not seem likely to be enough as it was a fair pitch and the outfield was fast. They started slowly, severely limited by "Procter's opening spell. After 20 "overs the score was only 55, and by then Ward (the batsman, not the bowler) and Harvey-Walker were out. The absence of the bowler "Ward, who seems to have given a most encouraging performance on most encouraging performance on Saturday but strained himself in doing so, was much felt by Derby-

Bire. Rowe had carefully played him-self in and began to move to the assault. He reached his 50, out of 88, in the twenty-seventh over. Two overs later the 100 was up. Rowe

Was playing some mighty strokes. Into ever, law over, law the 100 was up. Rowe, was playing some mighty strokes, including a six to square leg from a good length ball by Brown, with Sadiq waiting for the catch but helpless as the ball scared above lim. Brown gave both Merthmore and Graveney spells, and I thought he had given Greveney an over too many, but his judgment was vindi-Cated when Rowe, aiming towards midwicket, was bowied. Rowe had scored 71, and the total was 114 for three with 10 overs to go. Derbyshire did not again look like, making a large score, though Bolus, not a natoral Sunday league batsman but with sufficient intelligence and technique to cope, sustained the innings. Gloucestershire began con-

the innings. Gloucestershire began con-fidently, not to say fiercely. Shepherd and Sadiq played stroke for stroke, it seemed vying with one another in their different styles—the small, neat wristy Pakistani, the tubby Devonian who ilkes to get his shoulders into the shot. Yet Sadiq would sometimes drive, and Shepberd cut, as if antions to show that they must inot to be typecast.

Football

By Geoffrey Green Football Correspondent If life is compounded of hak and timing then Scotland enjoyed both in full measure as they beat England deservedly 2-0 at Hamp-den Park on Saturday. It would be ungenerous perhaps, even churlish, to suggest that they won, in the rain of Glasgow not so mucb et football as at billiards since both their goals went id off the white as it were. Yet what does that matter ? They took the fruits of their own labours.

that matter ? They took the fruits of their own labours. First Pejic, after only four minutes and then Todd at the half hour were the unfortunates as they diverted shots from Jordan and Daiglish into their own net following swift moves involving Brenner, Lorimer and Johnstone. Yet all this did, the Scottish superiority scant justice. Indeed, but for two or three world class superiority scant justice. wards. Corby's effort for Southgate was a work of art. In a match which tended to drift into a flood of tended to drift into a flood of petty irritations his coolness and deft touches restored it to fts proper status. When it comes to reading a game he is pages ahead of his contemporaries. He was playing in his third successive final, baving been on the winning side for Hounslow in the two pre-vious seasons.

Pat Pocock, the England end Surrey off-spin bowler, taking four wickets for 27, ruined any chances Basex had of victory in their John Player League match at Chelmsford yesterday. Surrey winning by 16 runs, were boosted by a fifth wicket stand of 52 in 13 overs by Roope and Owen-Thomas and totalled 143 in 39, reated mainly in a partnership of overs, then restricted their oppo-nents to 127 for eight. Essex seemed to pace their scor-ing rate in the first 10 overs well side for Hounslow in the two pre-vious seasons. A few breakaways by Sharma and Tubby helped the Eagles to gain some relief. There defence with Machin puring in a lot of hard work, was too busy chasing the Southgate forwards to be of any belp to their own attacks. Two abortive short corners summed ap their effort in the first half in which Daved, at centre half, tried with little success to get his for-wards moving. Sussex broke a sequence of six defeats this season by beating Somerset at Taunton in a thrilling finish by four wickets with mine balls to spare. Somerset made 148 all our thanks

Although Greig with 36 and Grares (21) added 50 in 14 overs for the third wicker, an inspired spell of two for 16 by Botham helped to put them in trouble at 103 for six in 31 overs. However, a fine 31 not out from Barclay, and a bright 25 from Snow which added 49 in eight overs, won the match. wards moving. The first thrill of the match came in the fourth minute with Ball, the Eagles goalkceper, saving a penalty stroke from Neale. This was the start of a string of near misses by Southgate who became increasingly apprehensive, especi-ally after e shot by Walker had hit which added 49 in eight overs, won the match. ### Apalachee may yet run in Derby

By Michael Phillips Racing Correspondent

Racing Correspondent One sequel to the Irish Guiness meeting on the Correct on Satur-day is that Apalachee, the long time favourite for the Derby, may well take his chance at Epson after all. Talking from his home in the Tipperary yesterday, after he had time to ponder the events of the previous afternoon, Vincent O'Brien confirmed that Cellini's next race would be the Prince of Wales Stakes, at Royal Ascot, and that Lester Piggott would fly to Ireland later this week to ride Apalachee in a gallop on Friday or Saturday. "After that", O'Brien added, " we will decide whether or not to send him to Epson." O'Brian's reaction to our 2,000 Guineas was that Apalachee had not raced like a distance horse, as he put it, and that he would be inclined to keep him to shorter races and think first of the St James's Palace Stakes at Royal Ascot. I put it to O'Brian yester-day that one would expect the winner of the Observer Gold Cup to stay middle distances as a three-year-old and that some, myself in-PARI TUTUAL: Wis, ITropical Cican ind Promices Hards completed S.10, Piaces (90 240, 430, F. He never looked like catching Pitcalrn, whom he had beaton in the Dewinters Stakes, and our Pitcalrn we such and passed in the Dewnerst Stakes, and even Pitcairn was caught and passed in the last 10 yards by Furry Gien, who thus became Wolver Hollowe first classic win-ner, a fine achievement with his ner, a fine achievement with his first crop. But there was an ironical side to this result as well, which goes to prove the point that training gallops can be deceptive. Seamus McGrath had worked Furry Gien at home with Silk Bads, his hope for the Irish 1,600 Guineas, and Silk Buds had finished well in front. It was against this encouragfront. A strict interpretation of this result would place Furry Glen, Pitcairn and Cellini on a par with Nonoalco, Giacometti and Apal-achee, but I am inclined to think that those bookmakers who clipped their olds so drastically on Satur-day evening, over-reacted. It had been boped that Welsh Harmony would provide an invaluable link between the form of the two classic races bet he got into all classic races bet he got into all the trouble there was going and, after the camera patrol film of the race had been studied, his rider, Eric Eldin, was before the stewards for trying to bulldoze his way ont of his predicament. Butler the exception By Lewine Mair . -All hot one member of the three couples who contested the play off in the Sumrie bener-ball playoff in the Sumrie better-ball golf tourvament at Queen's Park. Bournemouth, on Saturday, used an iron off the tee at the use-lined 336-yard first hole. The ex-ception was Peter Buler. He took a driver, knocked his hall just short of the green and made the birdie which won him and Clive Clark the £2,400 first prize. "That 25 wards he sained on the rest of 25 yards he gained on the rest of res off the tce," said Derek Small, "made all the difference."

" made all the difference." It was not a device which Butler, the least dramatic of men, had specifically devised for the play-off. He and Clark had tackled the hole that way all week. Clark reckoning that Butler would still have reached for his driver even if he, Clark, had hit his ball into tronble: " It was the club which Peter felt was right for him that tee."

The three couples who contested the play-off had wound up at 21 under par.

THE TIMES MONDAY MAY 20 1974

Last week there were the predictable reactions to the news that the Department of Health is to advise doctors that they may lagally supply contraceptives to girls under 16 without telling their parents. At one end of the spectrum the decision was seen as an encouragement to promiscuity; at the other as confirmation of the lagality of an accepted practice in many hirth-control clinics.

Somewhere in the middle, bowever, there are anxious mothers of teenagers who are concerned that their children may be handed out powerful medicines without their knowledge and that this could endanger their daughters' health. How real are these risks ?

First, the numbers are small. Experience among doctors and sex counsellors working with teen-agers has shown that very few of the girls who come to them for contraception are under 16. Almost always such girls already bave a regular sexual partner-it is most unusual for a girl to ask for a contracaptive hefore she has started sexual activity.

In these circumstances, the justification for supplying an underage girl with a contraceptive is that the alternative is a high chance that she will become pregnant—and there is no douht at all that the medical hazards of pregnancy far outweigh those of the side effects of oral contraceptives.

Secondly, when doctors prescribe contra-ceptives for young girls they almost invariably attempt to persuade the girl that her parents should be informed and in many cases there is no difficulty. However, the Department's rulingmakes it clear that there are occasions when a girl under 16 insists on ber right as a patient to the privacy of the doctor-patient relationship.

Thirdly, there are few real grounds for anxiety that a young girl's bealth may be affected by taking the pill. Teenage girls are much less likely to develop any of the rare serious complications such as thrombosis than are married women in their thirties.

There are three major hazards for the sexually active teenager : the psychological damage that can result from promiscuity, unintended pregnancy, and venereal disease. Set against these the medical risks from oral contraceptives are triviaL

A guide for young readers

With Infinite caution ever on the alert for catapults and toffee-coated fingers-the booksellers are beginning to explore the potential market for childrea's books. They have always known that it existed, of course, and a few hardy spirits have dis-covered that it can be a very lucrative specialization espe-cially when traffic with the children is combined with supplying hooks to children's librarians.

But for the trade in general a knowledge of the hot sellers-of the day, like Father Christ-mas and Watership Doion, and a few shelves regularly stocked with Little Noddy and Peter the necessary order form for new and backlist titles. Explaining the principles of the club, Mr Skinner pointed out that it was " penetrating a Rabbit (as though come strange critical arithmetic could prove them equal) is usually all that subterranean market "-bring ing paperbacks in children who is deemed necessary for the YOUNE.

A small sign of the widening of intérest was seen last week in the appearance on this year's agenda for the Booksellers' Association annual conference of a plenary session about Books for Children.

There have often been ses-sions or discussions on special-ized matters such as library supply or school library dis-count at previous conferences, but Eastbourne, 1974, seems to mark tha first attempt to con-sider bookselling and the youth-ful customer.

ful customer. Like many first attempts it wasn't much good. All too often contributions were submitted in a spirit of emotional enthusi-asm and not much progress was made towards defining the prac-tical difficulties of reaching tha narket. Nevertheless, enough was said to show that one or two elementary principles are being recognized which distinguish children's bookselling from most other forms.

In the first place, sporadic endeavours were made to point out that the hnge potential demand for children's books did not come solely from children (even if they are ex-pected to be the ultimate readers the nervous system with pints of water or beer, or alcohol by itself, can fire off violence—as can some old head iojuries. A low blood sugar level owing to lack of food, together with brain hydration—from alcobolic drinks, is a very dangerous combination indeed in predis-posed persons, and criminal records are full of instances of aggressive crimes committed under such conditioos. After the age of 30, impulsive crimes of violence decrease rapidly, and violence, if used at all, becomes a deliberately planned and grifful brief

Photograph by Zoe Dominic Rediscovering Shaw's music with an bonest trade into an un-employable fine lady. Higgins, as she says, has merely been doing his job. In the film ver-sion, the only surviving question was wbether or not they would settle down together. And Shaw's open-ended conclusion has been felt as a defect in the play. In this production this matters not at all as the interest is displaced to Eliza's continuing development right up to ber final

Higgins goes on to equip her with his own moral powers. And at the end they are two of a kind, such per-fectly matched parmers that it hardly matters whether they share a bonse or not. share a bonse or not.

This development is superbly printed on my manory like the kind of big operatic tures that make you want to join in. Shaw said he took Sweet the Hisgins; but it is irresistible to see him as the finest of all all obligue plable warner who

I cannot bope ever to see a more complete performance. Nor for a funnier treatment of the scenes where philology is seen undermining the British class structure. At Mrs Higgins's At Home, Miss Rigg glides on, shimmering in white satin, and extending a limp hand to the hostess. She records the baro-metric readings in lustrously resonant tones, and embarks on ber unstoppable flood of "new small talk" with superbly pre-cise aspirations and rolled Rs. No sceee in Shaw is better known than this: and yet not only Freddie's cyes were popping out of his head. The success of the scene Nor for a funnier treatment of

William Mann

Those who were disappointed by Covent Garden's recent revival of Mussorgsky's Boris Godunov may find consolation in Scottish Opera's current revival (Edinburgh this week, then Aber-deen). It is more respectable than Covent Garden's in that the Scots stick to pure, uo-Rimsky-fied Mussorgsky, a rawer, more physical sound, though the coo-ductor, Cary Bertini (who does obtain near and artistic playing from the Scottisb National Orchestra), softens or refines some of the music, especially the choral scenes and the clock sceoe.

sceoe. Scottish Opera omits the Polish scenes — wise, on the whole—but retains the St Basil and Kromy scenes, the latter namrally placed after the death of the Tsar. The work is sung in clear English by a cast as strong in tiny roles (Judith Pierce's billowing innkeeper, Francis Egerton's tacitum yet constantly telling Missaid) as in the name part and the chorus. Chiefly the revival blossoms io the bright light of David Ward's Boris, the most pungent singing-acting performance I bave yet seen from this fine artist and a match for the full-throated and involved choral singing which is one of the glories of all opera. This Boris is firm, imperious,

This Boris is firm, imperious, but excellently burnan towards his intimates. Memory dwells happily upon Mr Ward's affectionate dialogues with bis children, his outburst before Shuidren, a reading to Emile Shuisky (a reading by Emile Belcourt which avoids slimy hand-rubbing yet suggests all the dangerous falseoess of the

Beverley Cross on the Peasants' Revolt The Mermaid Theatre is to pre-

seot a new play by Beverley Cross, The Great Society, codirected and designed by Bernard Miles and Julius Gell-ner, from today until Juoe 22. The play deals with the Peasants' Revolt of 1381, io which peasants of Essex, Keot and East Anglia, led by Wat Tyler, John Ball, Jack Straw and Thomas Farringdoo, almost coortheast the government to overthrew the government to establish the first socialist society in Europe.

the death scene, which Mr Ward manages without ettempting to copy his famous predecessors. With William McCue's gravely sung Pimeo, William McAlpine's handsome Pretender, and Michael Langdon's resonant and grotesque Varlaam, this re-vival bas plenty to offer tha Mucraschu deuptae and grocesque variatin, this te-vival bas plenty to offer tha Mussorgsky devotee. Michael Gelior's production, rehearsed by David Pountney, looked well on tour in New-castle and was most effectively lit, especially in the big choral scenes. On the previous evening I was able to catch the com-paoy'a revival of Fidelio, vigorously cooducted by Alex-ander Gibson-oo dawdling allowed in this drama, eveo for "O Gott, o welch eio Augen-blick"--aod with a oew Leonora in Margaret Kiogsley, who had brokeo a holiday to take the place of the indisposed Heiga Dernesch. Under these circum-stances we could forgive some rough singing, particularly since Miss Kingsley spoke her dia-logoe so vividly and acted ber scenes with Florestan (Cbarles Craig in fine form) so expres-sively.

Among the other parts I much enjoyed Patricia Hay's spirited Marzelline and Mr McCue's strongly sung, albeit too youth-ful-looking Rocco. Peter Ebert's production is full of intelligent touches (for example the trans-

Today's third meeting of the joint commission on British and Soviet cooperation in science and technology is potentially the most important in its four-year history. Renée Short reports.

Time to show the Russians we mean business

Kirillin, Chairman of the State also taking part in the work. Committee for Science and Union.

As e result, a joint commission was set up in 1970. It has 1971, under the chairmanship of Mr John Davies, as Minister for Trade and Industry, and then in Moscow in 1973, when Mr Peter Walker, Mr Davies's successor, led the British team. The third meeting is due to start in London today.

The 1968 agreement set np a number of working groups, most of them the responsibility of the CBL, to explore the opportunities for cooperation in the development of scientific instruments, electricity supply and transmission, medical instruments, building materials, machine tools and transport. The joint commission will, of course, review the progress made by the working groups. It cannot be disguised, bowever, that its achievements so far have been disappointing. There is no doubt that the events of 1971, when more than 100 officials of the Soviet Embassy and Trade Delegation were requested to leave Britain, had e profound effect on Soviet opinion in the higher echelons of the government.

In talks some members of Parliament had recently with Mr Kirillin himself, with Mr Shitikov, the Chairman of tha Supreme Soviet, and at the Ministry of Foreign Trade, the point was made to us, in sorrow, not in anger, it must be said, that our mutual trade had suffered, but that we must put all those things behind us and look forward to a new era of cooperation to our mutual bene-

Computers were supplied by Technology, for the Soviet ICL, an order worth about £54m, and there are three British families and three bachelors working there, doing an excelmet twice-once in London in lent job and enjoying life too, skiing, skating and fishing.

For the rest, the contracts so far placed have been rather disapp: diag, with very few small firms getting a look in. Courtaulds, John Brown, Wil-Sword and some kinson machine tool firms have landed contracts worth between £20m and £26m each but if e worthwhile improvement in British exports is to be made, British firms will have to try harder.

There are many markets in the world where trading is far less difficult than in the Soviet Union—and naturally firms go for them. But the sheer size of the market is a challenge to British firms.

Trade fairs are useful and can produce surprising orders A small London manufacturer of school equipment, for example, got an order worth £50,000 pie, got an order worm 150,000 recently after such an exhibi-tion with a good chance of more to follow. The Russians want man-made fibres, hence the success of Courtailds, but they also like British woolkens, hence metanial and chose jersey material and shoes.

The Russians are also keen co develop compensation trading where the cost of supplying plant and machinery is paid for, in whole or in part, by products from the plant when it begins work. For example, they have agreements with West Germany, France, and Italy for deliveries of natural gas in return for steel cubes and equipment.

We must make sure that Britain's skill and know-how, which the Russians appreciate very well, are properly paid for and that every help is given to British firms once they have been given a contract.

The Russians could make the path smoother for British techpologists and others based in the Soviet Union by allowing them to have cars to get to their customers quickly, and to travel where their business takes them with less fuss about permits. After all, if a machine eds servicing the customer

Ulster's anti-Sunningdale gene-ral strike aod the subsequent state of emergency became in-evitable last Monday when a group of Protestant workers met several of the most promineot Loyalist politicians in Northern Ireland at an obscure botel in Larne and quietly informed them that they intended to create industrial and commercial chaos in the province. The Rev Ian Paisley, Mr Ernest Baird of Vanguard and others-Mr John Taylor, the ex-Minister of Home Affairs at Stormont, was also there were taken com-pletely by surprise by this fait accompli. Mr Hugh Petrie, Mr Harry Murray and their col-leagues in the Ulster Workers Council who turned up, made it clear that they had already laid their plans for strikes on Wed-nesday in the shipyards, aircraft manufacturing plant aod elec-tricity stations. Mr Paisley and his supporters argued vigorously against them for nearly three bours on the ground that auch drastic measures should only be used as a last resort but by lunchtime they eventu-ally realized that their advice was not going to be beeded. It was e disturbing experience for them. For the first time since the Assembly elections last summer, the Loyalist poli-ticians had, in effect, been told by the hardliners in their own camp that if there did not camp that if they did not toe the line they would be largely ignored. Power, in the course of just one sumy morning on the Antrim coast, passed almost effortlessly from the hands of the politicians to the self-elected militants. That single meeting explains much of what happened in the following week. The cryptic warnings from Mr William Craig, the Vanguard leader,

The bridge of an American airtage point from which to view the world. Détente there may be, but here is this vasr metal war machine, its bolds full of nuclear weapons, catapulting aircraft into the air day and night, and constantly rehearsing made it seem as though he was running the strike rather than being carried in its wake, while the formal condemnation by the Workers Council of intimidation in Belfast now eppears to have been the work of the politicians been the work of the politicians (little effect though it bad). When Mr Craig and the three Assemblymen who accompanied him to Stormont Castle on Fri-day—Mr Paisley had by this time left for e funeral in Canada—described themselves as "intermediaries" in their conversetion with Mr Base the conversation with Mr Rees, the Secretary of State, they spoke truer than the British Govern-ment probably realized.

The signs, however, were there for all to see. Based at Mr Craig's Vanguard headquarters all week, for example, were the UWC leaders and notable among the visitors was Mr Sammy the visitors was Mr Sammy Smyth, the political spokesman for the UDA. One of the UDA's leading officers—a man who for good reason rarely courts pub-licity—could also be seen occasionally gracing with his presence the party offices in the Belfast suburbs while on Friday e man from the (just) legalised Ulster Volunteer Force could be found standing near the overfound standing near the overgrown, rain-soaked lawn outside the building, scarcely five feet from the bucolic figure of Mr Harry West, Fernanagh farmer and leader—both at Westminster and in the Assembly—of the official Unionist Party. The UVF man and the UDA officer both travelled to Stormont Castle with Mr Paisley and the UWC on Wednesday, described officially as "observers".

It is not difficult to see how the politicians came to grief since it was through no fault of their own. During the Assembly their own. During the Assembly election last year, they promised to bring down the power-sharing executive end vowed that Mr. Faulkner, now tha Chief Mini-ster, would never be allowed to reach the dispatch box--some-thing they signally failed to do. The general election, however, showed just bow many thou-sands of Protestants disliked the Sunningdale agreement and the edministration set mp under it, by providing Loyalists wth 11 of the 12 Westminster seats. These new MPs embarked for London with a mandate to bring down the Northern Ireland administration but, since Down-ing Street stubbornly refused to acknowledge the general'a elec-ion's relevance to Ulster, they ailed to produce the goods. Throughout the past year Mr

Paisley and his men have frequently been confronted by the hardline Loyalists, demanding tougher action, and softened their demands after a promise that the three Loyalist political parties would bring down Sunningdale. At their conference at Portrush last month the Loyalists decided to set up a committee to discuss indust-rial action which could be taken in Ulster but it was at this committee's first meeting in Larne last Monday that they were at

Ona of the men who was there said this weekend that many of his fellow Assembly members now knew what the Social Deme-cratic and Labour Party MPs felt like in 1971 when, urging moder-ation upon the Republican com-munity, they were faced with e growing swell of angry and violem feeling directed towards the old Stormout Government. last undone. the old Stormout Government. The liberation move reactions have been unequivo-cal so far. While welcoming the coup, they have all expressed their determination to fight on their determination to fight on. In an innewiew with the BBC's African Service recently Dr. Neto, leader of one of the Angolan movements, MPLA, stated farmly: "But to end this war it is necessary to recognize our right to self-determina-tion. . . For our movement, for MPLA, tha idea of a federa-tion is unacceptable. We cannot accept that our external relaaccept that our external rela-tions, our finance, our defence, be in the hands of Lisbon. other liberation groups hive made it clear that such attitudes are shared by them all. tudes are shared by them all. The fact that talks are about to start over Guinea Bissar does not invalidate this for there the Portuguese control is already virtually gone. Negotiations are not in fact precluded elsewhere but essentially, the scope has been limited in advance. Talks must incorporate a timetable, and a relatively swift one, for complete independence. The liberation movements have some reason for such atti-tudes. In Guinea Bissar, where

One wonders how easy it would be to maintain the enthu-siasm for all this if the Russians were not so eager to play their role. Britain now has its own edition of The Living Bible, an idiomatic rendering of the bible text which has been e best-seller in he United States for the past two years. The American-English version bas sold 20 million copies in two and a balf

The revisions which have been made for the British-English edition suggest that we do, after all, still have a langaage of our own. For instance, the American reading of 1 Samuel 21 vv 4, 5 is: "There is the holy bread, which I guess you can have if only your young men beve not slept with any women for awhile ... I never let my men run wild when they are on an expeditioo, and since they stay clean even on ordinary trips, how much more so on this one."

In British-Eoglish "I guess" very properly becomes "I sup-pose", "if culy "becomes " pro-vided", "clean" becomes "clear of women", and as if m prove attention to detail, "awhile" becomes "a while ". In America people are

In America people are drinking themselves drunk " (1 "drinking themselves drunk" [1 Kings 20 v 16), but io Britain they are "drinking themselves into a stupor". We get "just deserts" where the Americans have "to each as be has done" (Isaiah 40 v 10). Where thay have "drapes" (Exodus), we have "curtains", and their "clothes closet" [1 Samuel 21 "0) is our "wardrobe".

y 9) is our "wardrobe". The British are not expected to know the meaning of "volume teer wheat" (2 Kings 19 v 29) so it is speit out for us as " the so it is speit cut for us as an pheasants from bis invalid cuar, where that has grown of its own it has always been a marvel-accord ", and where the Ameri-cans still speak of transgres-lously coccotric family. The sevenin earl was a dichard Con-carriers will operate is not known, but they could give air cover for land and amphibious operations.

But whereas in central Europe Nato is greatly inferior to the Warsaw Pact, in the Mediter-ranean it still has a clear edge. If it gets itself together it can muster well over 200 ships be-sides the formidable American Sixth Fleet. There is no real in tegrated command but in a typical exercise recently the Americans called in French help to deal with a simulated submarine threat. The French co-operate well in these exercises while remaining outside the military organization.

Nato countries also dominate the two vital entrances to the Mediterranean at Gibraltar and the Bosporus. In time of war they could prevent the Russians reinforcing their fleet. Nato has Malta in a key position for com-munications and air patrols, and it benefits from British bases and American radio attions in and American radio stations in Cyprus. It also dominates a lot of the northern shore, especially if one includes the bases which

We are, at least, spared an anachronistic euphemism. In 1 Samuel 24 v 3 we have "Saul that it might when Tito dies. The evidence is not persuasivo so far, but the general unpredictability of the area makes it a bit of e nightmare for both alliaoces-a messy patchwork of inaccessible land and water surrounded by volatile nations of all complexions. For the Nato countries it is imultaneously a strategic area similianeously a strategic area in its own right, a gateway to the Arab world, and the extended southern flank of the alliance cut off from land access by Switzerland, Austria, France and Spain. It is therefore highly dependent on maritime commu-nications nications. For tha Russians it is also the main road to the Arabs, and when Suez is open again it will be the way to the Indian Ocean, cutting many thousands of miles off the journey.

How coocerned should we be about the Russian build-np? Obviously political influence does not automatically follow the flag. American dominance of the Mediterranean did not

Soviet orbit. Some people fear remote ships circling in the dark. It matters for two main ous. One is that it helps to inhibit either side from intervening too directly in local situations. It nearly failed to do this during the Middle East war, but the outcome might have been different if one side had felt overwhelmingly and invulner-ably superior to the other.

The second reason is that when efforts are being made to stabilize the situation in central Europe, it becomes all the more important that the soft underbelly of Europe should not become even more exposed and un-stable than it already is. Nato planners will therefore unpalatable for them. The call by the Ulster Workers' Council for a total strike in the province from last midnight is explicitly political in its purpose. The strikers' demand is that new elections be held for the Northern Ireland Assembly in the immedi-ate future. The politicians back-ing the demand argue that with-out freeh algebrains without fresh elections the will of the people is being frustrated, and that constitutional means of securing them have been exhausted without avail.

There is a faint plausibility about this argument. The Assembly elections last year were held before the Sunningdale agreement had illustrated the full implications of short and in the start of the st implications of the new constitutional settlement ; and since that agreement was reached, the gen-eral election on February 28 has appeared to demonstrate popular repudiation of its implications in the Protestant community. Yet the Assembly is a duly elected body, for a fixed term of four years, with the Executive's majority intact. The general election in February was held under another system of counting votes and for another legislature. Its result in Northern Ireland though of much significance does not of itself invalidate the earlier election for the Assembly. However, these arguments epart, the Secretary of State, Mr Rees, in association with Mr Faulkner's Executive, is abundantly justified in refusing to bow before this extra-constitutional trial of strength. It still has to be seen whether the Ulster Workers' Council, even with the use of intimidation and even with the menace it projects of illegal military organizations in the background, can paralyse the economic life of the province. The trade unions are bracing themselves to prove otherwise. They have heen a moderating influence throughout the past five years, and their latest effort in that direction deserves every support.

If the power stations and other literally indispensable services are stopped, troops are standing by and must be used to secure the sustenance and safety of the civil population. This is a strike in which there must be no capitula-tion by the euthorities. Their credit would not survive it.

Resolution to withstand the strike does not entail political inflexibility. It had better be recognized that the full terms of the Sunningdale agreement cannot be implemented in present conditions in Northern Ireland, Mr Faulkner's Unionists are believed to have been trying to agree with their partners on the Executive to divide the establishment of the Council of Ireland into stages. The first stage, to come at once, would consist of a council of ministers drawn from the two Administrations in Ireland and having no executive powers. Development of thet into a council in the form provisionally agreed at Sunningdale would have to await popular endorsement at the next Assembly elections held in due time, ot held after an interval sufficient for the people to have experienced the new institutions. Mr Faulkner's party and tha Mr Faukner's party and tha SDLP now both have the strongest incentive to reach some such agreement. It is probably the only way forward from the post-Sunningdale impasse, and unless there is forward movement the policy of which Sunningdale is an integral part overbalances. And if the strike proves obdurate, the announcement of that agreement would provide a reason or a pretext for the strike's organizers of our society seems rather mis-directed. There may well be corrup-tion in local government. I do not know. There may even be a slacken-ing of standards in the civil service. But corruption among Members of Parliament seems small.

Of course it is possible to take exception to Members being sup-ported by trades unions or teachers, police federations, firemen or bookies. Myself, I find it surprising ot simply registered.

What are far more serious are two

What are far more serious are two growing habits which are quite imade-quately condemned. One is the facility with which some top people seem to find themselves so hand-somely rewarded. Commiss are destroyed from the top. Inflation is breaking up many things that are valuable in our life. But inflation is not the fault of Lord Feather or Mr Jack Jones-even Mr Scanlon plays a secondary part. It is the responsibility of some men at the top of the establishment. Invidi-ous as it may be to pick on individuals The other and most vicious aspect of our world is the growing custom of blackmailing the government or anyone else you dislike hy attacking a third party. Violence in e free the top of the establishment. Invid-ous as it may be to pick on individuals who may be personally able, bard-working and doing no more than the system accepts, to bring bome what I mean individual cases can bardly be evoided because it is individual examples which count. Golden hand-shakes of £80,000 are still paid. Chairmen and managing directors, whatever their hinnders and losses, do not resigo, often push up their salaries and perquisites end never take a reduction. I am per-turbed about the news that a very senior and respected civil servant who was believed to be intimately inwho was believed to be intimately in-volved in the previons government's policy of income control and who is presumably entitled to what was con-sidered an adequate pension sbould go off at once to he chairman of a bank at £34,000 a year. ### Parliamentary drafting

From Sir Desmond Heap Sir, Mr Antony Lewis's plea for greater simplicity in the Finance Bill and the Consumer Credit Bill (May 11) is one which should be beard loud and clear in many quarters. The need for real improvements in our Statute Book is all too obvious when such complaints are made by those concerned with using and those concerned with using and applying statutes in industry and Commerce as well as in the law. His example of referential legisla-tion whereby the earlier enactment (in this case section 7 of the Improve-ment of Land Act 1899) is applied in a later statute by mere reference to the relevant section and without dscription of its subject matter, cao be found multiplied countless times be found multiplied countiess times throughout the Statute Book. Worse still is the occasional policy of the draftsman to refer to sections of old Acts long since superseded by subse-quent legislation. The Statute Law Society was formed in 1968. One of its objects is to procure and further the making of technical improvements in the form and manner in which statutes and delegated legislation are ex-pressed and published with a view to making the same more readily intelligible. The society realizes that one of the main causes of obscurity in statutes is the system of referential legislation which the society would like to see reduced to a minimum. The society's views bave been set out at length in two reports "Statute Law Deficiencies" (1970) and "Statute Law: tha Key to Clarity" (1972) and will be fur-

Sir. As the draftsman of Justice's Right of Privacy Bill which Mr Brian Walden introduced in the House of Commons in 1970 and which led to the appointment of the Younger Committee, I should like to welcoma Marcel Berlins's excellent article which you published on May 16. But may I add one important point?

Neither Justice nor the Younger Committee found themselves able to make specific recommendations for the protection of the nrivacy of records held in computers-or. more accurately, electronic data banks. Both committees, recognizing the im-portance, but also the difficulties, of this part of the subject, could only recommend that it should be further tudied.

But time is passing, and more and more computer systems are beiog installed and-far more importantconnected up with each other so that they can share the information which they hold. I know that the computer industry is only too well aware of the threat which its art or craft could pose to privacy in the hands of malevolent or unscrupulous interests, and has devised systems, programmes and procedures which can make sensitive information just as secure as we like, provided that someone tells them what information is to be treated as sensitive, and what level and type of protection we want for it. But no one in this country bas so far given them any of the guidelines for which they are so anxiously waiting.

Meanwhile, in the United States, there has been what for ooce really merits the title of e breakthrough. An impressive committee appointed to advise the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare has written what, so far as I know, is the first fully thought-out study of the sub-

Natural justice

From Professor A. H. Robertson Sir, The action of the Divisional Court in quashing the conviction of a Greek shipmaster on the ground that be bad not been given reasonable time to prepare his case (The Times, May 11) is to be welcomed, all the more so as it will constitute guidance for magistrates on dealing with epplications for adjournment.

The court, according to your re port, based its decisioo on natural justice. It might also heve invoked the much more specific provisions ٨f the European Convention on Human Rights, ratified by the United Kingdom in 1951, Article 6 of which expressly guarantees to an accused person itter alia the right " to have adequate time and facilities for the preparation of his defence."

The effectiveness of the convention is strengthenad when the courts invoke its provisioos in cases to which they are directly relevant, such as that decided last week. It is note-worthy that the House of Lords did so recently for the first time when it refused to accord retroactive effect to the Immigration Act 1971 and cited in support both the Universal Declaration and the European Convention on Human Rights, Article 7 of which prohibits the retroactive application of criminal legislation. (The Times, May 2).

overnment data banks I had th privilege of meeting its first chairman and executive director when they were on a fact-finding mission to Europe. Their report—" Records, Computers and the Rights of Ciri-zens"—is a most impressive nocu-ment, yet very few people in this compary even know that it exists.

Perhaps not all of its recommendations could be adopted here without modification, but now that we bave it, it is too late for anyone to shelve the issue by claiming that it still needs intensive further study. I should therefore like to ask the following onestions :

- (1) Is there anyone in Great Britain-within or outside the Government-who bas com pleted a similar study whose results are ready for publication ?
- (2) If so, when can we expect publication, and how long will it be before its recommendaions can be carried out ?
- (3) If act, is there any reason why we should not gratefully accept the United States committee's work, and proceed with all due speed to adopt it, with such modifications as we may need ?

We are long pest the pbase of alerting public opinion to the proxi-mate threat. Most people who have beard about computers and ever value their privacy are only too well eware of it. The time is already overdue for doing something to aver while retaining the benefits hich the machines can undoubtedly give us. I do most sincerely hope het we shall not have to wait much longer.

England. In recent speeches Dr Coggan has shown that he is far from being hurnt out as an intellectual force. He has repeatedly questioned the values of latter-day western liberal capitalism, not on the fashionable ground that the pursuit of material prosperity is a distraction from things spiritual, but because he is acutely conscious of the gross-global injustices that stem from the disparity of wealth between the rich western world and the ex-ploited remaining two thirds.

says. It is probably no accident that the member of the Beoch of Bishops closest to 10 Downing Street, Dr Stockwood, of South-wark, was a stannch supporter of Dr Coggan's candidacy for Canter-bury. They both approach the condition of western man from a fundamentally critical viewpoint.

All over Coristendom e new cleavage is apparent in the ranks of religious men and women, more significant than the division into It is in those couotries where significant than the division lato-theologically conservative or pro-gressive camps though largely cor-relating with it. It is a process of politicizing the church, making plain the ewkward contrast between, say, the smooth lawns of an English cathedral close and the slams of Calcutta. Although this process has lardly begun to touch the Church of Eng-land at its roots, the ground for land at its roots, the ground for this new growth is already fertile. One remarkable indication of this occurred last year in the General Synod of the Cburch of England, Synod of the Cburch of England, on the vexed issue of church investment in southern Africa. That issue bad always been there under the surface. When it was first brought to public attention in the assembly there was some surprise that such an unchurchly matter should even have been raised. - But consciences having heen stirred, the passage of months led to a sharp change of mond. For once the Church of England saw itself as others see it—a sanctuary of well-to-do, other-worldly Christianity, a lot more lgnorant than it ought to be of conditions outside its immediate experience.

conditions outside its immediate experience. The politicizing of Christianity is partly a product of generatioos of missionary work overseas. All those bountiful benefactors who thought their donations to the missions were eventually going to turn the primitive savages into English Christian gentlemen would be surprised to find that the return on their investment has come in quite another currency.

The missionized lands made Christianity their own, and their version is neither comfortable nor European nor middle-class. At the

It is in those couotries where Christianity is still the religion of the poor-Latin America, Africa, parts of Asie, and the black country-within-a-country in the United States-that the Impetus has come for this polificizing pro-cess. The Christian moral centre of gravity has passed out of Europe; the World Council, of Churches, much abused in Britain for being left-wing, is probably far closer to the Christian political mean in the world today than any religious organization in Britain mean in the world today that any religious organization in Britain (except, perhaps, ane or two mis-sionary societies, who are by definition more closely involved in what is happening abroad). Any move by English church leaders to draw their flocks along those paths is likely to lead to a strong conservative reaction. Many leaders to draw their flocks along those paths is likely to lead to a strong conservative reaction. Many would explain it by saying that the residual organized religion in this country serves the purpose mainly of escapism. The churches, they would say, attract those who do not want to face reality. This may in part he true, hut it is more likely to be the case that this con-servatism is a product bf less fundamental characteristics, which cond in time be put right. The first is the othen admitted poor quality of leadership. During the recent economic and industrial crists many voices clamoured for a lead from the heads of the churches. Many responses to this call seemed anodyne, irrelevant, or platitudinous. Dr Coggan was one of the few churchmen with some-thing original and deep to say, something that looked weighty enough to put alongside the parallel secular debate on the origins and nature of the crists. The secood is the insularity of Exitish Christianity, which many of its leaders share. The signs are ther under its new general secretary, the Rev Harry Morton, the British Council of Churches is about to make e considered on-slaught on the considered on-

At Rugby he spent all his available spare time in the school workshops, where he produced a number of mechanical devices, including a coal-fired steam motor-cycle. At Cam-bridge he worked under Professor Bertram Hopkinson and, while still an undergraduate, huilt an experimental two-stroke petrol engine—the forerunner of many others—for his own amusemany others-for its own annus-ment. On leaving Cambridge he joined his grandfather's firm, Messrs Rendel & Robertson (later Rendel, Palmer & Tritton), consulting engineers in West-minster, as mechanical engineer for locomotives, steam plant and oil engines. In 1916 he was ap-pointed consulting engineer to the Mechanical Warfare De-partment, and in the years 1917-Institution of Mechanical Engine to the Scientific Advisory Cl cil to the Ministry of Fuel. ### Can you wait for it?

Most people take out life assurance on a long-term basis.

Which is very sensible, because it gives long-term security, and profits.

But most policies are not designed to help if you need the money sooner. With Scottish Provident's Selected Period Investment Policy, things are different.

You can write the maturity date on the policy after 10 years.

So you could collect in 1984. Without losing capital, and with profits.

This type of policy is an invention of ours. It's been imitated, but never beaten. It means that if you can wait for the 21st century, that's fine. But you won't be penalised if you can't.

The British Man-Made Fibres Federation said yesterday that this had been achieved in spite of a 35 pcr cent deficiency in grid electricity supplies for most of the period.

The federation said the recovery in output during February was consolidated in March, when total fibre and varn kilograms made up of 25.9 million kilograms of filament yaro and 36.2 million kilograms of staple fibre.

The reduction in output in the first quarter of this year was 8 per ceot compared with the final quarter of 1973. But, the federa-tion said, this would have been even less on a seasnally adjusted basis, and cnmoared with the corresponding period of last year, the decrease amnunted to only from the decrease amnunted to only 5 per cent.

Some increase in productive capacity took place over the period and a certain amount of period and a certain amount of internal generating capacity was available, but the productivity oarformance implied by this result is the object of much satisfaction on the part of fibre producers", the federation said.

£262,000 a year saved by DoE fuel device

The Department of the Eo-vironmaot bas saved £262,000 a year as a result of the setting up of a special economy unit to tackle tha problem of increasing fuel bills.

The unit, described in the current issue of the Civil Service Departmeot journal, Manage-ment Services in Government, published today, involved ex-perimeots with optimum start cootrol, a mini-computer tech-nique which measures daily temperature cooditions and computes a suitable start time for switching oo tha baating.

The DoE surveyed 500 buildings with a fuel expenditure of more than £1,000 a year and 300 were converted to the new con-trol method at a total cost of £458,000. The total annual sav-ings were £262,000.

A further conversion pro gramme for 800 properties with fuel bills of less than £1,000 is now said to be well in band. The cost, will be £400,000 with annual savings expected to be £150,000.

Stamp duty More damage to corporate loans

Trust succeeds

The Stock Exchange could not have been expected to take kindly to the proposal in the Finance Bill to raise the stamp duty on corporate fined interest securities from 1 to 2 per cent and it has duly gone through the motions of registering its protest. Since the in-crease looks so modest and since the rate stood at 2 per cent until 1963, however, the protests have not so far commanded much sympathy.

But now that the market has ad to, live with the new rare for just over two weeks, the potential scale of the damage becoming apparent. Already jobbers have reacted sharply and brokers are breathing gloom for both the primary and accondary markets in long-term corporate debt,

Their chief objection is that the duty is discriminatory. It does not apply to gilts or to other fixed interest securities like local nothority yearling bonds and, of course, it imong-term debt issues relative to short-term bank borrowings. In the secondary market, the practical effect of the increased duty is that the cost of the spread between a buyer and a seller of a loan stock, taking in brokens' commissions and the jobber's turn, rises from around 28p per £100, to around, 45p. Measured against a mere 9p on long gilts, there is a clear disincentive to trading at all. The argument goes that job-bers, concerned about being able to obtain stock in a more restricted market, are now re-luctant to sell short. At the same time they are hesitating to go long because they become liable to the stamp duty if they hold stock on their books for more than two months. In short, jobbers bave been eliminating positions entirely and the maret shows signs of drying up. How far the market has overket show reacted remains unclear. But if it became apparent on a longer-term view that corporate loan stocks really were no longer so freely negotiable, e severe blow would indeed have been struck at the market. Investor interest would inevitably deteriorate and apart from the obvious inference for prices, issues of loan stock would be proportionately less ettractive to companies. Further, if an acceptable margin over gilts is to be main-tained at the issuing stage, the increased duty would effectively mean an increase in the cost of funds to the issuer, raising yet another deterrent.

Perhaps the gloom is being overdone, hat to put the whole story into perspective it is worth pointing out that during the 1960s, fixed interest issues generally accounted for well over half of all new money ed through the stock market. At one stage they accounted for as much as 90 per cent, although since 1970 the percen tage has fallen sharply as in-

A 7 per cent fall in second half profits at UDS Group may not seem too surprising, given the impact of the power restrictions on trading and tailoning manu-facture. But this is not the whole stoty behind the dis-appointing figures. Operating profits in fact in-creased by 13.3 per cent over the whole of last year, against an 18.9 per cent sales rise, though the impact of higher

The new President's priorities

The new French President will have to give top priority to sort-ing out the country's economic problems when he takes over at tha Elysee today. Externally, the country is faced by a falling franc despite the fact thet reserves are high.

that there is little foreign indebtedness end that exports are doing well. The fail of the franc became more severe during the campaign for the first ballot of the presidential election, with the rate dropping to two frances to the Deutschemark, a sad comparison with the rate in 1958 when the Fifth Republic was established, one franc to the mark. Since the French currency began to float on lanuary 19, 1974, ir has continued to lose ground, depreciating by about 10 per cent in three and a half months.

The oil crisis and domestic inflation only partly explain this phenomenon. Another reason presidency of M Georges Pom-pidou, the Government set itself the main objective of industrializing the country if necessary at the expense of the currency. This recalls the policy immediately after the war wheo, in the framework of the Monnet plan, modernization and indusinvestment were given Trial priority over monetary prestige and financial orthodoxy. At present, however, the foundations of the frace are more solid than they were between 1945 and 1950. First, the Government bas cleared it-self of all debts with the International Monetary Fund, the World Bank, and the European Development Fund of the EEC.

It is no longer burdened by the American and Caoedian loans of tha post-war era. On the lies in the speculative expecta- debit side, there is practically tion of a revaluation of the nothing other than the usual mark. In addition, under the bank-to-bank credits. In additioo, French monetary reserves amount, all told, to Frs 37,300m, of which more than half are in gold, its value heing accounted for provisionally on the basis of 2 20 OUTICE.

Finally, France last year became, partly through the fre-quently criticized sale of arms, the third exporting country in the world after the United States and West Germany. She is slightly ahead of Japan. The average value of exports is Frs 15,000m a month, of which more than half takes the form of finished products-a new development for France-and 19 per cent in farm produce. But the increase in oil prices will, for the first time in years, pro-duce a balance of trade deficit, estimated at Frs 18,500m.

It is, nowever, by the likeli-hood of success in solving the country's domestic problems such as price rises and faltering growth that the new leader will be judgeo. Here the clouds are accumulating. Hitherto, the economy has, for the most part, overcome the energy crisis. Io March, unemployment, depending on the indicators coosen, has either levalled off or actually decreased. Job offers have risen: 11 per cent of French industrial firms were forced to hold back pro-duction because of lack of manpower. However, this demand is for skilled labour and one cannot accept the official version that full employment bes aimost been achieved. In fact, the oumber of people actually looking for jobs is of tba order of 450,000, about 2.5 per cent of the active popula-tion. One is assured that out of this number, 50.000 only want part-time jobs end that at least one quarter bave left their existing jobs with the certainty of finding others. But this version must be accepted only with reservations.

Indeed, the car iodustry, the pacemaker of industry and exports in France, is showing signs of a slowdown. In March, sales of a slowdown. In Manual fell by S.1 per cept on the domesfell by 8.1 per cent on the dones, tic market, end by 12.2 per cent abroad, a total of 20 per cent. Compared to March, 1573, the output of Citroen fell from 63,175 to 59,172; that of Chrys-ier from 55,023 to 42,312; that of Peugeot from 65,750 to 53,959. Only Remarki's has risen from cr Peugeot from 63,750 to 33,557 Only Renault's has risen from 124,004 to 127,325, owing to the success of small engined cars. These difficulties are likely to increase with the Italian inport restrictions, and by reason of the price increases which dur-ing the first quarter have reached the record figure of 4.2 per cent.

Does advertising need greater control? Patricia Tisdall on the industry's measures

sistent rbeumatism."

Strenuous efforts have been made by the advertising industry this month to counter the criticisms of consumar protection organizations. Measures include an updating of the Code of Advertising Practice, the industry's voluntarily imposed blneprint for advertisement content.

The code introduces new rules dealing with financial advertising, package tours, property and alcohol. It also tightens up the existing restrictions in such difficult areas as mail order and the advertising of bair and scalp products. Nevertheless .considerable doubt remains whether the controls are sufficient to meet the requirements of the new consumer protection authorities. Both Mrs Shirley Williams, the Secretary of State for Prices and Consumer Protection, and Mr John Methyen, the Director-General of Fair Trading, say they are still not convinced about the effectiveness of advertising's self-regulatory system. Discussions are in progress to see if it can be improved in so far as it relates to newspaper and magazine advertisements. The more comprehensive and pre-vetting procedures used for elevision commercials are not included in the criticisms. Some minor concessions have

It has, for instance, in response to a re-quest by Mrs Williams, said it has no objections to the inclasion of independent members on the committee which adminiters the code of ; practice. Also, methods are being ex-amined to make the control mechanism better known and nore accessible to the general

Another vulnerable area lics the sanctions themselvas. New Reveille (established 1940, circulation 800,000-plus) dated May 3 contains an advert-isement for a "doctor-tested method which has already brought relief to millions" with There is a beavy reliance on the media publishers to enforce these, mainly by refusing to publish offending advertise-

A more recent corrective procedure and potentially the most powerful (the introduction of which, significantly, coin-cided with the establishment of the Office of Fair Trading last summer) has been the "naming of name" The advertising code says that advertisements may not refer to any medicine, product eppliance or device in terms "calculated to lead to its use for the treatment of any form of names of arthritis or chronic or per-

The use of Government subsidies sources iovolved in mining so for the partial financing of inter-national trade deals by com-panics is undergoing searching of Occidental, Dr Armand panics is undergoing searching scrutiny in the United States. This has been one of the central topics in hearings by the Seoate's sub-committee on international finauce into the activitias of the Government controlled Export-Import Bank. The most sensitive area of trade operations for Americans s that concerned with Communst couotries and the hearings bave brought to light a great deal of information, which is clearly of public interest, but which may well have remained secret. Company executives claim that secrecy is vital because of busicess competition. Nevertheless, there are certainly some transactions, particularly where Government subsidies are in-volved, about which the public has a right to be informed.

One outcome of the Senate hearings may well be an im-provement in the system of control used in governing tax-payer subsidized deals that touch upon politically sensitive questions. Few countries bave instinuional institutional arrangements whereby full disclosure of what of Occidental, Dr Armand Hammer, made perfectly sound riammer. made perfectly sound and reasonable arguments in defence of the deal, but the questions raised showed clearly that this is just the sort of transaction that demands some form of government scruting. Of equal importance and of greater controversy in the hearings was the question of whether such deals as these hould be aided with money from the taxpayer. Dr Hammer told the com-

Occidental, he said, will have to finance investments of $340m itself and the Russians will get additional credits of $400m in Western Europe.

In developing their plants to bandle the phosphate and make fertilizers, the Rus-sians will themselves spend the 0WD equivalent of a further $1,000m. These figures alone give an indication of just bow massive the whole deal really is. Under the whole teal realy is. Under fire from tha committee, the Export-Import bank added that its $150m loan will carry an interest rate of 6 per cent per year—a rate well below pre-valling free market credit rates. The industry is taking unprecedented steps to enswer criti-cisms by Mr Methven, Mrs Williams and others who have whithing and only who have become increasingly uneasy ebout the present state of affairs. For over-optimistic advertise-ments are not, as authoritative industry spokesmen heve fre-quently proclaimed, confined to small circulation "underground " publications. The issue of Weekend (circu-lation one million-plus) dated May 8-14 contains several advertisements for preparations speci-fically covered by the advertising code. One, under the headline "New Height", for instance, promotes a "system" for attaining "full height".

According to the industry'a code, advertisements for pro-ducts purporting to increase the height, apart from "elevator" shoes and the like, are not to enlarge the breasts are not acceptable. It also says that exercises and courses which may bave an incidental effect on the bustline "may not be advertised in such a way as to place predominant emphasis on any effect of improving, increasing or enlarging the bustline ".

Withoot addressing the wider theories of consumer protection, these examples compiled from fairly casual reading, demon-strate that the spirit if not the letter of the industry's code is not being observed in a disturbing number of cases.

A fundamental weakness in the existing system is that cor-rective action need not be taken until the advertisement bas appeared and a complaint made and investigated. Meanwhile a quick killing can be made by an unscrupulous advertiser.

A method of overcoming this weakness is the establishment of a pre-vetting procedure for press advertisements similar to that in use for telavision commercials. This is a task of immense and costly scale since there are an estimated 25 million press apologia being protectively brought out when Hector Laing, chairman of United Biscuits describes his management style. He thinks a new face to capitalism is needed in Britain and is already doing quite a lot about it in his own factories.

While other companies debate the merits and otherwise of two-tier boards and worker directors, he and his board have already put through changes which devolve some decision processes down to fac-tory floor level—not without some askance reactions at first from middle management—and is oow looking to giving em-ployees a voice at shareholders' meetings. This last idea is encapsulated as enfranchisement. Mr Laing says : "I believe in capitalism as a system, let that be clear. But it is right for people who give a lifetime of service—or just a number of years—to a company to be able to partici-pate with the shareholders in what they decide. There should be representation from the em-ployees at a company's annual

"That"; admits Mr Laing, "is not easy. You have to go out and talk to the shop stewards, the middle management and the senior citizens, as I like to call them on the factory floor. That includes the night shift. And you don't have to hide anything; you tell them all the same thing; everything bas to be open."

He went on : "If you make a mistake, you have to admit it. Cheerfully. That's the way people learn to trust you. People like bumanity in their leadership."

He reckons that anyhody bringing in this style of management can: change the tem-perature of their industrial relations in three to five years. He added : "In that time the right men can get through to people. Trust is given to indi-viduals. This aspect of industry has been neglected in this COUNTRY

Significantly, Mr Laing has set his faco against rationaliz-ing into a smaller number of bigger units the present United Kingdom factory set-up which includes five major units, four smaller ones and several other establishments. He feels that from tha point of view of buman communication the units are already big enough, the largest at Liverpool having a work force of around 4,000.

Metal Closures Group

Yet another year of record sales and profits

The following are extracts from the statement by the Chairman MR. JOHN BODEN circulated with the Report and Accounts for the year ended 31st December, 1973.

World wide sales grew by some 28% to over £27 million. Group profit before taxation grew by 26% to £3,990,000. Taxation takes an ever increasing toll-the first quarter's profit was taxed at 40% and the remainder at 52%. After provision for texation and minority interests, the profit attributeble to shereholders is just £100,000 more than in 1972 at £1,967,000.

An interim dividend of 1.10 per share was paid in January, and the Board recommend the maximum final dividend permissible of 1.8038p per share. Out of total eemings of 10.35p pershare, only 2.9038p reeches the shareholder.

The profit of the year retained is £1,407,000. It has elways been e maxim of the Group to maintain a sound liquid cash position-this is especially necessary in these days of financial stress and high interest retes.

Homa. Probably the most significant feature of our business last yeer was the very substantiel increese in demand for metal closures which is continuing. This gratifying trend towards even greater use of rolled on aluminium closures has justified our faith in allocating resources towards their perfection over many years. We have encountered the twin problems of rising costs and intermittent supply of raw materials and here, as in all other branches of the business, we have made strenuous efforts to meet our customers' requirements. Plans for increasing our manufacturing capacity have been made and will be implemented shortly.

Plastic bottle crates continue their success and many other types of rigid plastic containers, such as tote boxes and horticultural trays have been launched successfully.

Our range of injection mouloing machines is being steadily extended. Meanwhile our traditional plastic products, such as compression and injection moulded caps have continued in active demand.

We are also increasing our interests in aluminium castings and extrusions. Aluminium foil capsules are maintaining their popularity.

Calls from the "Do-it-Yourself" market for expanded colystyrene products were fluctuating, but the division made a worthwhile contribution to Group profit.

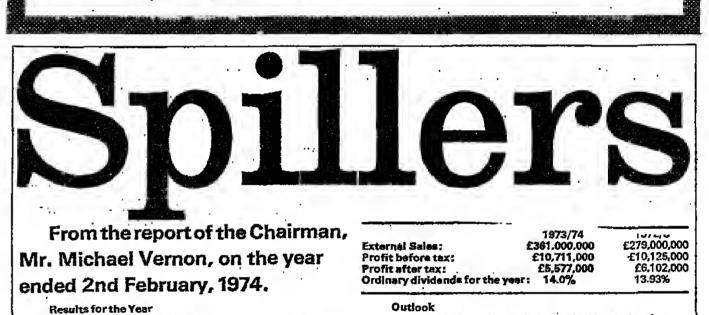

We have elways set a high standard for our products growing appreciation of this fact has resulted in substantially increasing demand through the years and last year was by far the biggest that we have experienced.

Overseas, Our income from overseas is still growing as we continue to extend and expand our interests abroad. The South African Companies returned particularly good results last year.

The Future. If world economic conditions were stable, I should have no hesitation in predicting a continuation of our growth in the current year which has already started well. However, in the uncertainties which exist today, it would be a brave man who would make a confident prediction of the future.

Presuming that the present strong demand for our products continues, I feel sure that we shall be able to maintain our satisfactory progress.

In a year which has had its full share of problems, our pecola showed a great sense of responsibility. These results could not have been achieved without their hard work, ingenuity and willingness to overcome the many setbacks which beset industry during the last twelve months.

Extamal sales rose by 29 per cent from £279 million to £361 million. Although much of this increase was attributable to the ganeral Inflation of world food prices, volume sales were higher in all tha main product sectors of the Group except that of bread, where thare was a further declina in line with national consumption.

The effects of the Government'a Counter-Inflation Programme led to a reduction of overall margins and this is evidenced by the increase of only 9.6 per cent in the trading surplus before dapreciation. As an additional burdan the total interest paid by the Group in 1973/74 Increased substandelly owing to the need for much greater working capital and the high level of interest rates that prevailed, particularly in the second half of the year.

The past year was an exceedingly difficult one in that the operating companies had to contend not only with raw material costs rising on an unprecedented scala but also with rigorous - and at times totally unreasonable - Govammant restrictions on price increases. I think it is not unsadsfactory that, with two axcaptions, our principal companies produced higher profits then in the previous yeer. The axceptions ware Spillers Foods, which had a comparatively small, and 1 believe temporary, downtum, and Spillers-French Baking, which produced a serioua loss. The operation of tha Government's price controls haa resulted in a aubstantial and accumulating sum of costs that, in common with the Baking Industry generally, we have not been able to recover.

Finance

The Group hea arranged sufficient short- and medium-term finenca facilities to mast its requirements in the next few years, assuming that the present rates of inflation do not increase dramatically; however, servicing the Group'a borrowings is a matter of continuing concern in the light of the current exceptionally high rates of interest. Any easing off in commodity prices will, of course, bring some benefit to this situation but the excessiva Interest rates constitute a major disincentive to investment.

The uncertainties and frustrations to which I have referred earlier make it impossible to predict the results for the current year, but Spillers is now a broadly-based company in the food industry and that strength of its diversity has been illustrated by the results of the past year. I em sure that we possess the competance end initiadve further to develop each sector of oor acovities, but to what degree and with what speed we shall progress will depend to a large extent on the economic and political factors of the anvironmant in which we operate.

It is ironic that the present state of affairs in this country is such that companies like ours, which as a matter of policy have largely confined thair investments to the United Kingdom, are at soma disadvantage compered to those who hava a wider geographical epread. We have considerably increased our trade overseas in the past year and this is receiving much more attention in our forward planning; however, it is inevitable that for some years to come we shall continue to be largely dependent on our United Kingdom activities.

Your Board has supported the policy of this Government and the previous one in their fight egainst inflation and our exacutives have readily co-operated with the official bodies that have been act up to edminister the various Stages of the Progremme. However, we are increasingly concerned that our co-operation is being sought in the pursuit of aima that are clearly contrary to the long-term interests of our customers, amployees and sharaholdars. We are frequently faced with attitudes and policies that appaar to diaregard, if not abhor, tha need for profit which is the source of naw investment. Without investment there can ba no waakh, and wesith cannot be ahared until it is first created.

The Annual Genaral Meeting of Spillers Limited will be held at the Queen's Room, Baltic Exchange, at 12 noon on Wednesday, 12th June 1974.

Copies of the Annual Report may be obtained from the Secretary, Spillers Limited, Old Changa House, 4-6 Cannon Street, London EC4M 6XB.

IRELAND / Pre-tax profit up 90%

Highlights from the Accounts and Statement of the Chairman, Mr. J. D. Fitzjohn, o.L., B.Sc., C.Eng., F.I.C.E.

Profit before tax is £1,965,686, an increase of some 90% over that for 1972 and a further outstanding growth figure. The total net dividend of 8.540895% is the maximum allowed under Phase iii.

CONSTRUCTION Many projects have been undertaken in a wide range of work. The value of the construction work undertaken during the year was approximately £11 million.

CAPITAL VENTURES Development work of £7 million of commercial and industrial property has been completed in 1973 and there is a future U.K. development portfolio of £40 million.

INDUSTRIAL Our electronics company had a successful year of development and have now commenced production of T.V. cameras end multi-chennel analysers.

OVERSEAS The value of European property developments being undertaken is £24 million and it is intended that the proportion of overseas activities should increase both in location and scope.

"Projects for 1974 already obtained show continued growth and are already well in hand. Your Board expects a considerable improvement in profits for the year."

J. D. FITZJOHN, Chairman.

Following the major organiz-ational changes which have now beep instituted with Clarke Chapman-John Thompson, the chairman of International Com-bustion (Holdings) says he is confident these will provide a vehicla for further diversifica-tion as well as preator ascurtion as well as greater assur-ances for the long-term protec-tion of sharebolders interests. While finding it difficult future profitability the board intends to pay a current year dividend on the redoced capital of not less than 0.7p per stock unit. The Schema of Arrangement involving the amalgamation of part of the ICH business with CCJT has now become effect-ive. As a result the ICH stock units have now been reduced in nominal value from 25p each to 5p each. Listing has been granted by the Stock Exchange of both the 5p units and the new 25p units in CCJT to be issued under the Scheme and dealings in both will start today.

Waterford Glass Limited

Hopeful of satisfactory growth

Salient points from Mr. Patrick W. McGrath's Statement for the year ended 31st December 1973.

The year under review has been one of economic The year under review has been one of economic uncertainty for industry generally which has also affected your company. During the year there have been extraordinary increases in the cost of raw materials, fuel and power. Whereas in the past these additional costs could have been regarded as being relatively minor, the extent to which they actually increased, particularly in the second half of 1973, has had a far more significant effect on the profit performance of your Group.

Profits and Dividends

The Group profit before tax amounted to £2,622,000 compared with £2,444,000 last year. A Final Dividend of 12% is proposed which, together with the interim Dividend of 8%, makes a total of 20% compared with the equivalent, after adjusting for the Capitalisation Issue, of 15% paid last year.

Parent Company

The factory expansion programme of your company at both Kilbarry and Dungarvan was completed during the year. However, the last two units were not in production until after the year-end and. consequently, benefits from these final stages will only be felt during the current year.

Whilst in the first half of the year, performance in Waterford Glass Limited (handmade Crystal Glassware) was satisfactory, in the second half the soaring costs went far beyond any improvement in profitability which could have been achieved. Due to pricing policy (prices have not changed since January 1972) it was not possible to recover these very heavy increased costs and, as a result, the profitability of the crystal division was reduced. The necessary steps have been taken to rectify and improve the situation largely by means of a more flexible approach to prices.

The full effects of the completion of the first steps of this factory's expansion programme were reflected in the record level of production achieved during the year. The introduction of new patterns and the expansion of existing lines contributed to the buoyancy and continued demand for their products in all markets. The second stage of the factory's expansion programme is already in progress and should come on stream early next year.

Switzer Group In the year under review this Group has remodelled and expanded its department stores and this development has been reflected in the record level of performance achieved. The capital programme embarked on has not yet een completed and will continue during the current year. In the long term these steps will add to the Group's already satisfactory performance both in turnover and profitability.

John Hinde Limited

This subsidiary has continued to contribute very satisfactorily in all markets. Exports were extremely satisfactory and represented over 60% of its total production.

Smith Group

Since the end of the financial year we have made an offer for the entire OrdinaryShare Capital of the Smith Group, and we have already acquired a controlling . interest in that company We consider this acquisi tion a most valuable one as it will enable your Group to greatly broaden its activities and involve itself in a variety of areas with considerable growth potential. The Smith Group, apart from it :. better known activities. in the assembly and * distribution of Renaul cars, is also involved ir .... the distribution of tractors .

motor car components builders supplies, genera wholesaling, engineering anchina numerous outlets for the retailing of motor vehicles It is also quite substantially involved in Hire Purchast activities and, finally, it has r profitable and expanding interes . in the construction industry through Rucon Limited

Outlook The demand for all your hand the demand for all your hand the second se Company's products remains extremely buoyant and we are " hopeful that, provided there is no deterioration in the international economic scene the results for the current year will show a return to a morel satisfactory level of growth, Copies of the report and accounts, may be obtained from the Secretary at Kilbarry, Waterford, Ireland
